FEED GRAIN PROGRAM FOR 1972 HAS MANY CHOICES AVAILABLE

Between now and the sign-up period for the 1972 Farm Set-Aside Programs, January 17 - February 25, local producers will be carefully studying all their farm management options, according to Ralph Hamilton, County Farm Program Official.

Details of the feed grain programs for 1972 were announced in mid-October by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Essentially the 1972 Set-Aside programs expand on the policy of leaving to farmers the determination of what "mix" of crops to plant on their farms. At the same time the programs are designed to increase farm income, help farmers get maximum return on investment, and reduce excess carryover supplies.

Hamilton said, the 1972 program raises the qualifying set-aside to 25 percent of the base acreage and offers farmers two new options for additional voluntary set-aside. It also raises the feed grain set-aside payment. Included in the 1972 Feed Grain Program are corn, grain sorghum and barley.

A wider choice in making their 1972 plans is offered to farmers with feed grain bases or wheat allotments since they may sign up for program participation and plant soybeans, corn, grain sorghum, barley or wheat, — singly or in any combination — to protect their farm base or allotment history.

As in 1971, set-aside programs put no limits on crop acreage. On feed grain grown on participating farms, loans will be available on all production, with national average loan levels of $1.08 per bushel for No. 2 corn, $1.79 per hundredweight for grain sorghum, and 86 cents per bushel for barley.

Detailing the feed grain set-aside program for 1972, Markwell cited provisions as follows: For corn — farmers who sign up will set aside a qualifying acreage equal to 25 percent of their farm's corn base, for which they will earn payments of 80 cents a bushel on the established farm yield times the acreage set-aside.

At sign-up, a farmer may also, if he chooses, agree to set aside up to 10 percent more of his corn base, for which he will receive payment of 52 cents a bushel times the established farm yield on this additional acreage.

To assure that sufficient land is taken out of production Secretary Clifford M. Hardin is asking farmers, also at sign-up, to offer to set aside an additional 5 or 10 percent, at the 52-cent-a-bushel rate. If the regular set-aside is less than 38 million acres the Secretary of Agriculture will announce by mid-March whether one or both of these offers will be accepted.

Farmers have many choices to make in the 1972 Set-Aside Programs, emphasized Hamilton. Chairman of the Morgan County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

First of all, he said, is the choice by farmers who have feed grain bases to participate in the voluntary programs.

For corn and grain sorghum farmers who decide to participate, another choice will be whether to sign up for voluntary set-aside up to 10 percent of their bases, and also whether to offer to set-aside 5 or 10 percent more at the option of the Secretary of Agriculture.

He added, "It also means for 1972 that a lot of decisions must be made this winter, since sign-up for the 1972 feed grain, is set for January 17 - February 25. Because of the options which the Secretary of Agriculture must decide on by mid-March, that sign-up period will not be extended, and farmers who may want to participate should underscore it on their calendars right now."

"As soon as official detailed program information is received in the County ASCS Office, we will get it out to farmers via mail, meetings, and all news channels. Phone calls, visits and letters of inquiry from farmers will be welcome."

News of Morgan County's first Sorghum Festival spread far and wide. This photo of Mrs. Carrie Shaver demonstrating the art of spinning wool as performed by her pioneer forebears in East Kentucky was published in the Winchester (Ky.) Sun. Mrs. Shaver of Pomper drew attentive crowds with her demonstrations at both the Dogwood Festival last spring and the Sorghum Festival. The festivals, both huge successes, involved the cooperation and efforts of large numbers of local citizens under the direction of Mrs. Charlene Spencer and Mrs. Kathleen Blair, co-chairmen of the planning committee. The successful events resulted from an idea proposed two or three years ago by Mrs. Helen Price Stacy, local reporter for several daily newspapers, we are told.

CONTRACT LET FOR KY. POWER CO. BUILDING

Kentucky Power Co. this week announced that Frederick and May Construction Co. of West Liberty has been awarded the contract to build the power company's new office building in West Liberty.

The new office building, to cost in excess of $100,000, will be located on the Prestonsburg Street lot across the street in front of May Wholesale Grocery Co.

The new facility will contain storage space for service supplies, an office for receiving bill payments, and a meeting room and small kitchen for public meetings, etc.

The contractor has 50 weeks in which to complete the structure, but a Kentucky Power Co. spokesman said completion is expected by early next summer. Workmen have already begun preparatory work at the site.

CORRECTION

TWO HIRED AS COUNTY POLICE

Two policemen were employed Tuesday as county policemen to work in cooperation with other Morgan County law enforcement officers in controlling crime within the county.

They are Darvin Shockey of West Liberty and Lexie Adams of Cottle. The two officers assumed their duties Tuesday.

According to County Attorney Thomas M. Davis, the new officers will concentrate their efforts on checking into the alleged sale of narcotics in the county and patrolling the local drive-in theatre to insure strict observance of regulations governing obscene movies.

Employment of the new officers was made possible through a $10,000 federal grant to the county which will be administered by the Gateway Area Development District. Their salaries will be $475.00 per month.

Local Law Enforcement Topic Of Meet Tonight

Statement On Law Enforcement

Dear Morgan Countians,

Many of us have been deeply concerned about the major problems of Morgan County, especially the illegal sale of alcoholic beverages (bootlegging) and the growing threat of dangerous drugs. These problems are now very much out in the open and the time is right for action.

Whether we admit it or not, public opinion is the key to law enforcement. Unless we, the citizens, want and speak up for law enforcement, we will not have it. That is why it is of extreme importance that we have what is being called a "Community Action Rally." We have all seen what our passive indifference has allowed. If we remain silent now in this timely hour, we deserve lawlessness.

I am calling on all Morgan Countians to rally behind the commitments of those officials who are willing to pledge themselves to enforce the law.

If we want law and order we can have it. If we don't want law enforcement we don't have to do anything to see that happen. At this point, our silence is to consent. I have great faith that the citizens of Morgan County want law and order. That's why I ask that we rally for action together for just one hour, tonight (Thursday) at the West Liberty Elementary School!

—Steve Bliffen

PUBLIC INVITED TO MEETING AT ELEM. SCHOOL

Meet Called By Local Citizens Concerned About Booze and Dope

Widespread public concern over bootlegging activities, alleged traffic in "dope," and obscenity in movies in Morgan County may come to a head tonight.

A county-wide public rally has been called by concerned citizens and ministers to determine what the public can do to aid law enforcement officials in suppressing these activities in Morgan County. All concerned citizens are invited and are urged to attend.

The meeting, billed as a Community Action Rally, will be held at the West Liberty Elementary School at 7 p.m. tonight.

Various local law enforcement officials have been invited to speak, along with a few Morgan County citizens. Rev. Steve Bliffen, pastor of the West Liberty Christian Church and a member of the county ministerial association, will preside.

Said Rev. Bliffen, speaking for a citizens group which has been meeting informally in recent weeks to arrive at ways of combating lawlessness, said, "Every interested citizen who is willing to make a united stand for law and order should attend."

It is hoped that the meeting will result in the organization of a bona-fide citizens committee which will be willing and able to aid and support strict law enforcement in Morgan County.

Said Rev. Bliffen, "This is a crucial meeting for the community and will somewhat express whether our county citizens want law and order or not."

"Indifference," he added, "will be a vote for lawlessness."

"Preparation has been made for hundreds of concerned citizens to attend from every part of the county," Rev. Bliffen said.

Three topics will be emphasized at the meeting. They are:

1. The existing strength of the laws and statutes against lawlessness.

2. The power law enforcers have to deal with lawlessness.

3. The importance of upholding the law and the law enforcer in our court system, not only by court officials, but also by jurors.

Tonight's meeting apparently stems from sermons dealing with bootlegging, obscene movies, dope, etc. in this county delivered Oct. 24 and Oct. 31 by several ministers in their Sunday morning services.

On Nov. 2, the Morgan County Ministerial Association voted to support a concentrated effort to rectify problems of law enforcement, and on Nov. 4, a few concerned citizens began planning steps for action on the matter.

State Police Captain A. D. Fortner of the Morehead State Police Barracks met with the group the following day, and on the following day, purchases were made by various individuals from local bootleggers for the purpose of obtaining and documenting evidence.

The following day, Sunday, Nov. 7, a large scale raid on local bootleggers was staged by State Police officers, accompanied by Morgan County Sheriff James Brooks.

On Monday, Nov. 8, County Judge Gene Allen met with the citizens group and pledged his support and plans were made for the Community Action Rally tonight.

DEVILS LOSE HEARTBREAKER TO FLEMING IN FINE CLOSING GAME

Six Morgan County Players Named To All-Conf. Teams

The Morgan County Blue Devils closed their 1971 football season with a tough, but close, 28-22 loss to the Fleming County Bulldogs here last Friday night.

The Morgan gridders, in one of their finest performances, racked up their 22 points on two brilliant runs — one by halfback Mike Blanton and one by fullback Johnny Tate — and on a pass and run combination from quarterback Hank Allen to split end Jeff Brown. The Devils added four points on two conversions after touchdowns.

Another Morgan County touchdown by Blanton was called back because the referee blew the ball dead back upfield.

Fleming County opened the scoring with a 60-yard kickoff return. The Morgan lads then scored twice but the Bulldogs hit paydirt again to tie the score at 14-all at the half.

The Bulldogs added two TD's in the second half, one on a pass, the other on an interception, while the Devils scored only once in the last two frames.

However, Coach Ed Zaremba is looking forward to a good season next year with the remainder of his young starters returning.

Because of their fine performances, three members of this year's squad were voted to the Cave Run All Conference Team. They are Jeff Brown, John Tate, and Gary Dye.

Named to the Junior High All Conference Team were Hank Allen, Jeff Miller, and Don Shockey.

MAN SHOT NOV 2 IS SATISFACTORY

A California man who was shot and wounded at Adele early Nov. 2 was reported in satisfactory condition this week at University of Kentucky Medical Center, Lexington.

The wounded man, Tommy "Buck" Whitaker, 22, was the occupant of a house at Adele owned by Bobby A. Perkins of Grassy Creek where he was found shot early Nov. 2 by Morgan County Sheriff James Brooks.

A Wolfe County man, Edison Dykes, 47, of near Helechehawa was arrested at the scene and jailed at West Liberty on a public drunkenness charge. He was later released and Sheriff Brooks reported that no other charges have been placed in the case.

Reports are heard also that Ranier plans to build a coal crushing plant at that point to process coal into stoker coal.

State Police Raid Four Bootleggers Sunday; Big Haul Of Booze Siezed

Largest Single Raid In Long While; More To Follow Police Say

Ten State Police officers, headed by Sgts. Larry Burgin and Gary Jetton of Morehead and accompanied by Morgan County Sheriff James Brooks, staged surprise raids on four bootlegging establishments in Morgan County Sunday about 4 p.m.

Four persons were arrested and a large quantity of alcoholic beverages was confiscated. It was the largest single raid on local bootleggers in some time.

Arrested and charged with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages in a dry territory were—

Charles W. Castle, arrested at the home of Merl Williams at Relief;

Robert E. Litteral, arrested at the residence of Mrs. Shirley Stacy on the Index Hill near West Liberty.

Bobby Perkins, arrested at his home at Grassy Creek, and Smith Perkins, arrested at his home on KY-7 just north of West Liberty.

Smith Perkins, arrested at his residence just north of West Liberty on KY-7.

The four appeared before County Judge Gene Allen where each posted $500 bond and was released pending circuit court action.

Seized in the raids were 2,841 12-ounce cans of beer, 424 bottles of ale, 157 half-pints of whisky, 81 half-pints of vodka, 65 pints of wine, and 85 cans of malt liquor.

Though State Troopers have been "hitting" bootlegging establishments in the county and transporting who haul liquor to the bootleggers on a fairly regular basis, the raids Sunday were the largest single coordinated effort in some time.

Widespread public concern has surfaced in recent weeks over what some citizens term "wide open bootlegging" in Morgan County, leading to speculation that a crackdown on local bootleggers similar to that which occurred in Rowan County last year may be in the offing.

Asked if Sunday's raids might be the beginning of such a crackdown, a State Police officer who participated in Sunday's raids declined to comment, but said for the record, "We're going to see a lot more of these raids in the near future."

Besides Sgts. Burgin and Jetton and Sheriff Brooks, those participating in the raid were State Police Detective Alonzo Hensley and Troopers Kenneth Burton and Larry Wood of West Liberty, Trooper Roy Ison of Elliott County, Trooper Nelson Riddle of Morehead, and Troopers Lewis of Flemingsburg and Evans and Allen, recently assigned to the Morehead State Police Barracks.

The confiscated alcoholic beverages, three car-loads and a pickup truck full, were turned over to local authorities for safekeeping to be used later as evidence, according to Sheriff James Brooks.

BUSINESS HERE AND HEREABOUTS

PLANT FOR RICHMOND — Ajax Manufacturing Corp. of Warren, Ohio manufacturers of induction heating and melting furnaces, announced last week it had picked Richmond, Ky., as the site for its new factory, and said the plant would employ 200 workers.

GANNETT BUYS PAPERS — Gannett Company, Inc., America's largest newspaper chain, last week purchased the Huntington Advertiser and Herald-Dispatch from Honolulu Star-Bulletin Inc. which purchased the two West Virginia papers last year from the Long family. Purchase was made through a transfer of stock.

COAL VIA BARGES — A lot of the strip-mined coal from Eastern Kentucky now goes to Kentucky Power Company's big generating plant on US-23 below Louisa, even some coal from Eastern Morgan county. But this week Kentucky Power's parent company, American Electric announced it had let contract to build a giant floating dock and coal receiving plant on the Ohio River near Belpre, Ohio, and that this plant would load coal on Ohio river barges for transshipment to its 16 plants on the Ohio and tributary rivers, including the Big Sandy. The project will cost $800,000 and will get its supply of coal majorly from its Muskegon mines 25 miles away. Automatic loading will enable AEP to supply coal cheaper to its 16 electric plants along the Ohio and tributaries.

KENTUCKY CHEESE — Believe it or not, Kentucky ranks fifth in the nation in the production of cheese. Production of cheddar cheese in Kentucky increased 18% last year, to a total of 137.3 million pounds. Production of cottage cheese increased 8% in Kentucky last year.

STRIKE HALTS COAL TRUCKS — The prolonged coal strike has reached into nearly all East Kentucky counties, and very few coal trucks are moving on the highways due to pressure from unionists. However, coal trucks are moving as usual hauling coal from Morgan, Lawrence and Boyd counties. But in most Big Sandy counties, the unions have stopped trucks hauling strip-mined coal. A state official who visited several counties Monday said he noted only seven coal trucks in operation in five counties. Most coal trucks were parked, he said.

GAS FROM COAL — Columbia Gas System, which imports 85% of its gas from Louisiana to supply the Tri-State area, plans to build coal gasification plants in Appalachia to convert coal into gas. And this week Columbia said it had completed the first core-drilled test on 10,000 acres of its holdings in Wayne and Lincoln counties, W. Va., which revealed reserves of 100 million tons of coal from the Winifred seam 64 inches thick. Columbia and its subsidiary, United Fuel, owns coal rights on approximately 300,000 acres in the Appalachian sections of Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, and all their acreage will be explored for recoverable coal.

10 YEARS FROM NOW — In order to supply the demands of consumers with important commodities, farmers will need to expand their products in between now and 1980. The Agricultural Digest published by the Salt Institute recently revealed some important predictions. Here is what they say, "USDA predictions for 1980 include: beef demand up 33 per cent, pork up 15 per cent, poultry up 50 per cent, eggs up 10 per cent, dairy products the same. USDA sees 1980 rice production 20 per cent higher than now, feed grain up 42 per cent, soybeans 33 per cent, citrus fruit 36 per cent, vegetables 30 per cent, cotton 20 per cent, wheat

8 per cent, tobacco 7 per cent, potatoes 7½ per cent, dry beans and peas 12½ per cent.

AGENCY OK'S PLANT — The Kentucky Air Pollution Control Commission last week approved the application of Eastern Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corp., to build a coal-burning electric generating plant on the Ohio River near Maysville. The application had been opposed by conservationists and by the City of Maysville, which said polluting ash and sulphur dioxide gas from another electric plant was damaging city property.

STRIP-MINE SUIT — John M. Rosenberg, of Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, headquartered at Prestonsburg, last week filed suit in Franklin circuit court at Frankfort on behalf of 16 individuals and the Citizens League to Protect the Surface Rights, to require revocation of strip-mining permits issued by the State to 30 coal companies, some of which are in Johnson and Floyd counties. The suit contends that the 30 coal companies are in violation of state coal mining laws, and asks the State to revoke their strip-mining permits. Some are in violation of the state law as many as 33 times, the suit said.

KENTUCKY NO. 1 IN COAL — As this column predicted several months ago, Kentucky has risen to the top in coal production, forging ahead of West Virginia, which has been the top-producer of coal for several years. "A spectacular boom on strip-mining in Kentucky brought the Kentucky's total coal production to 106½ million tons, which is 1.4 million tons more than West Virginia produced," said the U. S. Bureau of Mines. Strip and augur mining accounted for about 50% of Kentucky's production the past year.

Confusion May Mark Burley Selling As New Program Starts

Kentucky's tobacco specialist Ira Massie predicts there will be confusion at the warehouse weigh scales this year as selling starts under the poundage control plan. Writes Massie in the Kentucky Farmer—

"Trying to get out of the warehouse in a hurry will be wasted effort. Every grower will offer his best tobacco for sale; therefore, he'll have to do a little work at the scales. A lot of trades will take place at weighing-in time. Leasing deals can be made until mid-February.

A major point is that you must clear your leasing arrangement with the county ASCS office before the sale of your tobacco. Each pound of tobacco produced in the Burley Belt must be accounted for. You'll want it to stay this way, so be sure and clear your arrangement before you make a sale!

MAKE LIQUOR HARDER TO GET SAYS KENTUCKY BAPTISTS CONVENTION

LEXINGTON, KY., Nov. 9.—The Kentucky Baptist Convention decided yesterday that making liquor harder to get is a better approach to the problem of alcoholism than attempting to rehabilitate individuals who have become alcoholics.

The convention, meeting at Calvary Baptist Church here, adopted a report of the Temperance League after Delbert Butts, league executive director stated that it would cost more than the entire national budget to rehabilitate all the nation's alcoholics.

COP CAMPAIGN CHAIRWOMAN THANKS WORKERS, VOTERS

I would like to thank all of you voters and young people who worked for and supported The Republican Party and the Emberton Team in this campaign.

Thank all of you who helped to make the candidates' Caravans and the Candidates' Wives' Caravan such enjoyable successes. Thanks especially to the members of the Republican Woman's Club who made arrangements for the luncheon and tours. And thanks to the businesses we visited and the people of West Liberty and Morgan County who so graciously received them all. The ladies were very impressed by the friendliness and courtesy of the people of Morgan County and one remarked that it was almost like being in Republican Territory.

A Big Thank you to all who helped to make our fish fry the biggest Republican Rally ever held in Morgan County. Thanks to those who helped prepare and serve the food, the musicians and square dancers, those who made it more enjoyable for all by just being there and joining in friendly fellowship.

Thanks to Henry Lowell Allen and his Voter Registration Team, and all those who helped to register voters and send absentee applications. Keep working! Maybe we'll get enough registered by next time.

Thank you to those who worked in our Republican Headquarters, especially Miss Floris Cox, Mrs. Kathleen Blair, Mrs. Lena Blair, Mrs. Gertrude Nickell and Mr. D. R. Keeton who all did most of the work there.

Time and space do not permit thanking each of you by name, but I do want to mention Boyd and Kathleen Blair, last but not least, who I think we can all agree did more than any of us in trying to elect the Republican ticket. I truly believe that they were not only working for the Republican ticket, but that they have the past few years sincerely dedicated their minds, hearts, and most of their time to the people of Morgan County. I believe Republicans and Democrats alike are better off in many ways for the efforts they have put forth as G.O.P. leaders and great Morgan Countians in trying to help Gov. Nunn help Morgan County.

Thanks, Boyd, with what you've done on the strength of the voters you delivered last time, I wonder what you could have done had Morgan Countians delivered you the vote they give year after year to the Democrat Chairman. You have set a good example for him to follow.

Although I still think the best men lost, I hope and pray that Wendell Ford will live up to and deserve the confidence and respect the voters have shown in him. So that we may all work together in continuing to restore confidence, especially among our young people, in our government, and pledge ourselves to continuing the progress that the Nunn Administration has begun in making Kentucky a better place in which to work and live.

The Democrats are lucky. I think that the Republicans did not have a primary so that the voters were late in being exposed to our personable and sincere candidates. The people were only just beginning to find out just how honorable, decent, moral, intelligent, capable, and superior that these two leaders are.

And less you think all your work and enthusiasm for these candidates was in vain, remember Abraham Lincoln didn't win his first race. And how many people remember as well the man who defeated him? And neither did Nunn who's made a good governor, Nixon and many other great Americans and Kentukians win, their first time around. So keep your faith in these candidates. I feel confident that the people of Kentucky will increasingly realize the value of these young leaders and will someday give them the opportunity to provide the great leadership in this state that they are capable of providing. May no one, out of fear or jealousy, try to destroy what they are.

It was a pleasure sharing the work, good times, and high hopes of this campaign with all of you. Thanks again for fighting a rough battle with green campaign officers like me. Your efforts are deeply appreciated and may your work pay off in better luck next time for us all. Gratefully, Bonnie Ruth Lewis, Morgan County GOP Campaign Chairwoman (pd.)

Wildlife Collector Prints By Gene Gray

Wildlife art has become one of the most demanded and desired types of art today, both in the home and public institutions. It not only adds beauty to the most tasteful decor, but also performs a valuable service by calling attention to some of the wonders of nature that are in constant danger of becoming extinct.

Just as wildlife art has become prominent, so has one of its artists. Gene Gray, a young man who is rapidly becoming recognized as one of America's finest artists for his detail and selection of composition. His animal subjects look so vivid and realistic, that the viewer is tempted to touch in order to satisfy his curiosity.

Professional people and financial institutions regard the collecting of limited editions of outstanding reproductions of original works of art as a good investment. As the demand exceeds the supply, the prices increase rapidly. In the Gene Gray limited collector's prints we are now offering, you have a rare opportunity to obtain some of these outstanding reproductions of his work. In the prints that come to you, Mr. Gray has personally autographed and has inspected each print to insure that each is a faithful reproduction of the original.

We invite you to join with us in this new and exciting art venture and sincerely want you to become a part of the Gene Gray art story. We hope you become one of the select American homes, businesses, or public institutions proudly displaying Gene Gray Wildlife Collector Prints.

Just released and for sale in West Liberty is artist Gene Gray's "Cougar", the latest of his Wildlife Collector Prints. Mr. Gray will be in West Liberty to personally meet you in Charleen's Studio Wednesday, Nov. 17, from 4 to 6 p.m.

Ladies Aid Hears Interesting Story About Beloved Hymn

The Ladies Aid of the West Liberty Christian Church met Nov. 4 at 1 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the church for a brief meeting.

Following the hymn, "Abide With Me," Mrs. Rowena Combs presented the devotional. Her subject was relatives to the writing of the above-mentioned hymn by Cecilia Margaret Rudin.

The poem was written in 1947 by Henry Francis Lyte (1793-1847). The tune was composed in 1861 by William Henry Monk (1823-1889).

The author of the poem was a minister of the Church of England, born in Scotland and educated in Ireland. A fine trait of character of this man was his faith and courage. Although he was not well and strong during the greater part of his life, he did not let that fact keep him from being a faithful minister.

He was much loved by the people of his various parishes. "Abide With Me" was the closing hymn sung at the impressive funeral services of the late King George V. of England which were broadcast throughout the world from St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle on January 28, 1936.

This hymn has been accorded a place among the greatest and best loved lyrics of all the years.

The following members answered roll call with scripture verses: Golden Byrd, Floris Cox, Grace Adkins, Mary Davis, Eliza Wells, Fredia Franklin, Josie Caskey, Della Williams, and Rowena Combs.

We were very happy to report that Mark Littler, who was in a car wreck 10 days ago, is in satisfactory condition at this time at the St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington. The family has been with him. Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Cox and Russell visited him on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Harold McKinney entertained the ladies here on Saturday afternoon with a Tupperware party and an enjoyable time was reported.

Mrs. Robert Lee Peyton was on the sick list last week. She is better at this time.

AN OPPORTUNIST

An opportunist is a man who goes on and does what you intended to do.

OBSERVATIONS AND PREDICTIONS

SNOWY WINTER PREDICTED — Ray Geiger, editor of the 155-year-old Farmers' Almanac, was in Kentucky last week and told the Courier-Journal that we are in for lots of snow this winter, also that Derby Day in May will be rainy. Last year, he predicted a pleasant day for the Derby — and it was. Geiger, who edits the ancient almanac from a roll-top desk in a small town in Maine, makes his weather forecasts on the Almanac's secret formula, which takes into account sun spots, tides and the positions of the planets.

The snowy-winter forecast was based on his reading of a persimmon seed. He cut one open with a razor blade and pointed out that the heart, or germ, was shaped like a spoon. This means winter will be snowier than usual.

When the heart is shaped like a fork, you can expect an "open" (mild) winter. A knife-shaped heart means a "sharp" and cutting winter. At least that's his story.

28 CEMETERIES MOVED — The Army Corps of Engineers reported this week that contractors had completed the work of moving 28 cemeteries that will be inundated by the new Cave Run Reservoir on Licking River. The cemeteries, located majorly in Rowan and Bath counties, required the moving of 1,130 bodies to a new 8-acre cemetery. Moving the bodies was let to contract by the Corps of Engineers.

NEW PRINTING PRESS — The Courier force in addition to printing 20 pages of newspapers the past week, also moved in with the help of heavy equipment crews from Frederick & May Lumber Company, a second Goss newspaper press. Meanwhile, other pieces of printing equipment have been hooked up and some of them are in production in our plant. And other units are yet to be installed and hooked up. Sometime soon we hope to be back to just publishing newspapers.

ABORTION AND THE CHURCH — The Christian Life commission of the Kentucky Baptist Convention at its meeting in Lexington this week recommended that the present Kentucky abortion law be retained with the following addition — "That abortion be legalized in the case of forcible rape, or incest, and/or if the mother is legally and mentally a defective person. The Baptist group, largest church organization in Kentucky, also recommended that the present law on Sunday closing of businesses be enforced, and added that "we resist any effort to abolish, amend, repeal, or change it; and that we urge Baptists and other Christians refrain from shopping on Sunday."

LIFE ON MARS? — Mariner 9, the U. S. spacecraft launched last May on a trip to Mars, is due to reach Mars next Tuesday, and then commence orbiting the far-off planet to pick up data. Some scientists speculate there may be life on Mars — and they hope the orbiting spacecraft may pick up enough information to determine this question. Speculation about Martian life has fascinated astronomers since 1877 when an Italian astronomer saw faint streaks through his telescope and called them canals, and suggested they were built by intelligent beings. And during the flying saucer period a few years ago, it was speculated the flying objects might be manned by men from Mars.

TENNESSEE COAL CO. PROSPECTING IN MORGAN

Representatives of the Viers Coal interests of Tennessee are examining coal seams in the northern part of Morgan county. They came about three weeks ago and have bulldozers opening coal seams in the Straight Creek, Mordice and Wrigley sections so as to make determinations as to the feasibility of strip-mine operations. They had not obtained any coal leases by early this week, it was reported Tuesday.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Kinner:

Before I ask you to print this big long thank you note (which I'll pay for this time, if you're willing) I want to thank you for the kind and fair way you have treated the Republicans in The Licking Valley Courier during this campaign.

I know of no instance when you did not give us as much paid space as we asked for, and you certainly gave us our "fair share" of free news coverage as compared to the opposition. Thank you very much — just another reason to appreciate "our" good "ole" Morgan County Paper.

Sincerely,
Bonnie Ruth Lewis,
Co-Chairwoman GOP Campaign

PAINTSVILLE PRISONER STABBED TO DEATH

EDDYVILLE, KY. — Leo Thomas VanHoose, 39, an inmate of the State Prison here and a resident of Paintsville, was stabbed and fatally wounded in his cell during a disturbance by three prisoners last week. The prisoners locked a guard inside the cell, but he was later released unharmed. The three carousing prisoners were locked in segregation units when caught.

Never before have Americans had more and enjoyed it less.

PUBLIC MEET . . .

A primary reason for the sudden upsurge concern is the fear that narcotics are being sold locally to minors as well as adults.

State Police, who have been conducting raids on local bootleggers at fairly regular intervals, say they have found no evidence that bootleggers are selling narcotics.

However, State Police officers acknowledge that it is "very likely" that drugs are being experimented with by local high school youths, probably using marijuana.

Raiding officers also acknowledge that narcotics are easier to hide than whisky and beer and that it is possible that bootleggers may also be selling dope.

Adding to citizens' concern are a series of unsolved petty burglaries in recent weeks, a recent shooting, and rumors of an alleged war between bootleggers in the county in which three bootlegging establishments allegedly have been burned out by competitors.

Swango Springs, Once A Popular Resort

the area, still flows freely. The two-story hotel-type building, at right, located near Swango Springs, and once teeming with life, shows more deterioration, and the well-built structure that encloses the springs.

—Photos by Allen Booth

This historical marker, located in the area of Red River Valley Elementary School, Hazel Green, states, "Traditionally, healing properties of mineral water of a spring here discovered by owner when treating her pet dog for mange. Its use by humans spread and by 1895 three hotels and many boarding houses were hosts to people from all over America. Fire destroyed largest hotel, 1910. Visitors to resort dropped off. Mineral water bottled and widely shipped until 1943."

Located near Hazel Green, Swango Springs assumed resort proportions before the turn of the century, and now, a well-beaten path to the springs lends credence to the belief that the water still contains healing properties. There are those who always take containers to be filled when they are traveling in the area.

After the healing quality of the water became known, a man by the name of Rittenhouse built a resort hotel and developed the area surrounding the spring into a park. Many wealthy people came from great distances to spend spring and summer to drink the water.

Mr. Rittenhouse purchased the springs from Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Swango.

After the coming of the railroad to nearby Helechawa, the water was packaged and shipped to many states.

A 1917 issue of The Lexington Leader carried an advertisement about the water, listing the price per gallon, and stating, "Special attention given to rigs," implying that travelers could obtain the product without alighting from their horse-drawn vehicles. The paper was found when an old two-story log house was torn down at Campton.

After the Rittenhouse hotel was destroyed by fire around 1910, the springs and surrounding area were purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Crockett Coldiron who retained ownership until their deaths. Some years later the property was purchased by Coldiron's son-in-law and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McCoun of Winchester, who still own it.

descended the 130-foot stone side of a spur of Chimney Top Rock to collect litter.

The roadsides throughout the gorge were punctuated yesterday by plastic bags full of litter to be picked up by trucks circulating through the area. Although most of the gorge's main trails were combed, much of the rubbish seemed to come from the roadsides themselves.

"There's not too much on the trails," Bill Sallee of Lexington reported as he took a short breather. "There's usually a lot at the start of a trail, for a mile or so, but then it falls off."

What seemed to be the most littered area under attack yesterday was a roadside ditch along KY 77 near the entrances to the Nada tunnel. In one quarter-acre area, four volunteers collected six large bags full of cans and bottles in less than an hour and were scrambling to collect still more. They did not have the facilities to remove several car frames from a ditch.

"This is my first cleanup, because I just moved here this year," said Miss Nancy Daniel, a music teacher at Eastern Kentucky University. "It'll be my last only if people stop littering."

She looked at the gobs of uncollected rubbish and at the weary face of her companion, Miss Dale Brodkey, an anthropology teacher at Eastern, and added wearily, "and I suppose it won't be my last."

OBITUARY
BURTON

Ora Essie Brugh, widow of Dr. Charles Calvin Burton died November 4, 1971 in Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington, Kentucky.

She was born in Harrison County, Indiana on December 15, 1886, the third child of Franklin P. and Martha E. Jackson Brugh. All of her married life was spent in and around the vicinity of West Liberty, Kentucky, where she worked and cared for her husband who preceded her in death. Here is where she reared her family of five boys, the two older boys, Richard Russell and Samuel Hamilton passed away in early manhood. Mrs. Burton is survived by three sons and three daughters-in-law: Jay Northup and wife, Edra; David Graham and wife, Olive, West Liberty, Kentucky and Charles Calvin, Jr. and wife, Mary Elizabeth, Dayton, Ohio. She is also survived by five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren, also two sisters, Nora M. Brugh, Brug Stuart, (Mrs. John A.), Carnegie, Pennsylvania, many nieces and nephews and a host of devoted friends.

At an early age she united with the Church of Christ in Palmyra, Indiana later her membership was transferred to the West Liberty Christian Church. Mrs. Burton was the mother of Paulina Chapter No. 360 Order of Eastern Star, that will soon celebrate its fiftieth anniversary.

She was diligent and industrious, always filling a need among those with whom she was associated. She was friendly and cheerful, able to meet her problems, and to look up and laugh in the face of adversity. She was not immune to human frailties, but what more could one want than to be dearly loved by family and friends. Her spirit will live on in the heart and minds of those who are left behind.

It is not with sadness that we honor her memory today but with joy at having known and lived and shared her long and fruitful life. So farewell, Dear Ora, your life will live on even in us all.

And we will say with the song writer Joseph H. Gilmore: "And when my task on earth is done

When by Thy grace, the victory's won
E'en death's cold wave I will not flee
Since God through Jordan, leadeth me."

OLD TIME HOME COOKING VICTIM OF CIRCUMSTANCES

By Neyle Shackelford
UK College of Agriculture

The "three squares" grandma used to cook up every day year in and year out on her woodburning range now exist mostly in memory. They have gone the way of log smokehouses, springhouses and root cellars, and perhaps it is just as well.

Since we all now live more sedentary lives, such meals could make us more obese than we may already be. The delicious, soul-satisfying meals grandma prepared were for children running wild over the countryside and to sustain menfolk during their long hours wailing scythes in the hayfield and crosscut saws in the logwoods.

To get an idea of a typical country meal during grandma's time when "no company was expected," here is an excerpt from a letter dated Aug. 16, 1920. The writer was a drygoods drummer who evidently was invited to stop at a farm home as he traveled cross country visiting crossroads stores.

Ham Gravy, Too

In describing the menu, the drummer wrote: "They had on the table ham meat, chicken and dumplings, green beans, boiled corn, fried potatoes, ham gravy, ripe tomatoes, cucumber pickles, sliced onions, wild honey, butter, biscuits, cornbread, fried pies, sweet milk, butter-milk, coffee and three kinds of jelly."

"Being very hungry," he concluded, "I sampled all these items and found them most satisfying to the inner man."

Research reveals that "home cooking," as practiced by homemakers of yesteryear, was more by instinct than by cookbook. They cooked "by guess," adding a pinch of this and a dab of that with much lifting of lids, probing with forks and vigorous shakes of pot handles.

Prepared From Garden

In the preparation of these meals, old-time homemakers drew directly, not from the supermarket, but from the garden or from log smokehouses filled with hog meat, smoked apples, pickled beans, pickled corn, kraut and shuck bean; from root cellars stocked with all manner of vegetables and canned goods, and from a yard full of chickens, ducks and turkeys to be had for the catching.

If methods of cooking have changed over the years, so have appetites. Certainly they have shrunk. Where a man of ordinary caliber would once have been satisfied with no less than three eggs, a half pound of sausage and six hot biscuits the size of a cat's head for breakfast, he now is content with a piece of toast, a dram of orange juice and a cup of instant coffee.

Modern Old Fashion

Playing upon the fond recollections of yesteryear dining, many eating places throughout the land advertise "ing." The experience has been, however, that while mostly attractive and wholesome, this modern home cooking.

But shed no tear from the good old cooking of grandma. Certainly she wouldn't because bending over a hot stove was hard work and deadly to her complexion. Modern meals prepared from the deepfreeze or supermarket may be a little less robust and more bland in taste, but nutritionists say they are just as wholesome and take much less effort to prepare.

ing compares with the old like apple cider compares with maple sap. Both are good, but the tang and flavor of the former is missing in the latter.

HOLLIDAY

By Harrison, Holliday
Nov. 8 — Many men, women and children met Saturday on the Courthouse square to welcome Don Gullett, Cincinnati Reds pitcher, and his brother, Bill Gullett, who plays with the Detroit Tigers.

The boys seemed to be very talented but very country, home like boys who are doing a good job for their teams and love to visit with friends who are well acquainted with their father, Buford Gullett, who grew up in this place and has many friends. I talked to both boys and found them to be very friendly. They both put their names on a baseball that I had that had been autographed by one of the Cincinnati Reds, Tony Helms.

The boys were delayed for a half hour as they got on the wrong road. Mr. and Mrs. Buford Gullett, now of Lynn, Ky., came in one car with their two daughters and Don and his brother, Bill, came in a car and they got on the wrong road.

County Attorney Tommie Davis said he wished they had come when the bands were here for the Festival two weeks ago so the boys would have a much larger crowd and would have felt more welcome - but after all we are glad they came and we got to see them. I noticed the little children when they came and got the boys to autograph their name on a sheet of paper. How pleased they were.

The following persons from this section were in town to meet the big leaguers: Mr. and Mrs. Arna Lykins, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gullett, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Holliday, Sam Endicott, Lola and Billie Salyer, Mrs. Woodrow Salyer, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Holliday and son, Douglas, Mrs. Douglas Boyd, Frank Gullett, Anthony Frederick and many others.

Darrell Holliday and his girl friend, Shirley Jackson, came down to visit Harrison and Myrtle Holliday on Sunday. Shirley is spending the weekend with her friend, Mrs. Colleen Boyd.

Sorry to hear of the death of my friend, Marvin Franklin of Malone. He and I have been friends for years. My sympathy goes to all the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gullett had the following visitors Saturday evening: Mr. and Mrs. Buford Gullett and sons, Don, Bill, Jack and family; daughters, Bessie and Debby, of Lyons, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Orral Williams, Mrs. Wanda Cooper and Don of Womble, and Bill Gullett, son of Bruce Gullett, of Cannel City.

USEFUL SERVANT

Success in business implies optimism, mutual confidence, and fair play. A business must hold a high opinion of the worth of what he has to sell and he must feel that he is a useful public servant.
